2027 the 13th International Conference on Information Management (ICIM2027) will take place at the University of Cambridge, Cambridge, UK, from the 19th to the 21st of March, 2027. ICIM 2027 aims to provide an international platform for presenting and publishing the latest scientific research outcomes in information management and information system applications. It offers excellent opportunities for delegates to exchange new ideas, establish research or business links, and build global partnerships for future collaboration. We sincerely hope the conference will advance knowledge in relevant scientific and academic fields. Building on the immense success of previous ICIM conferences, ICIM 2027 is expected to be even more exciting, stimulating, and educational.
